In the Year 2050 - Open Space types preferred – Rank from 1 to 5 – what is your #1 choice?

In the year 2050 – how many acres of city park per 1000 residents do you feel is best?

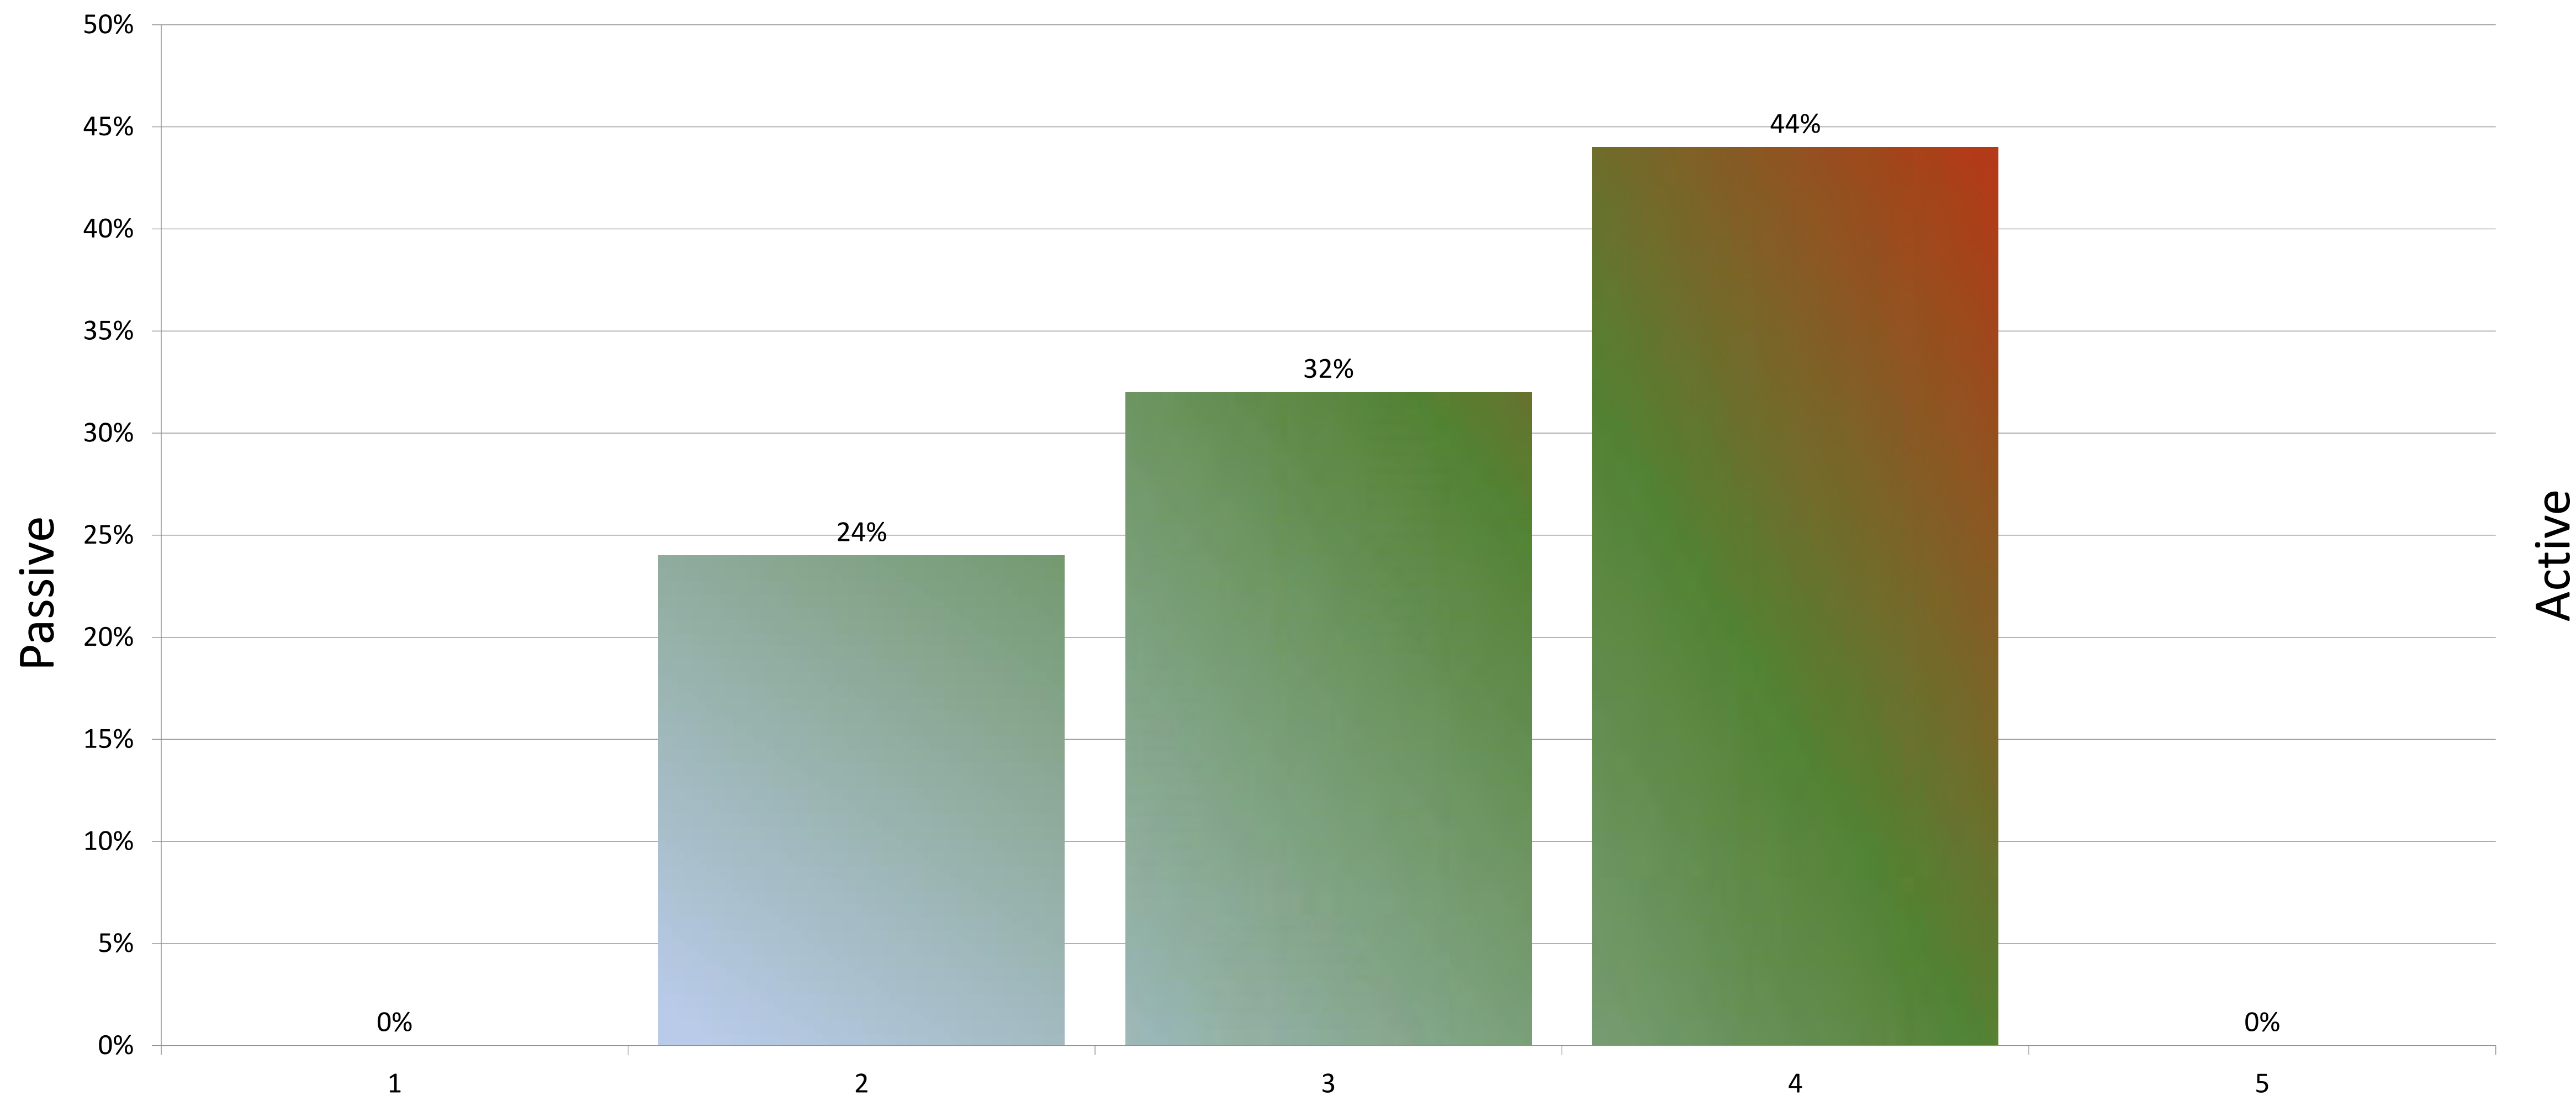

Is it more important to improve the spaces we have or buy more land?

How do we pay for all of this?

How do we pay for all of this?

It would be great to compile the information and have one more meeting to assure that we agree with what will be presented to the City Planning Committee & City Council. It would be good to see if we compromised between extreme and no growth and ended up with an average.

YOU GUYS DID SO GREAT! THE EDUCATION & PRESENTATIONS WERE FANTASTIC!
I WISH EACH SESSION WAS LONGER, AS IT WAS SO MUCH TO ABSORB EACH
WEEK. I THINK THE EXERCISES LIKE THE PIE CHARTS AND COLORING
COULD HAVE BEEN EXPLAINED BETTER, IT WAS USUALLY RUSHED AT THE END
-THANK YOU!

It takes time to look at land in more detail and make decisions about its use. It would be nice to see different creative ways others are using land/development.

THANK YOU

It is so much appreciated that you are taking time to listen.

I felt that the developers, mortgage & real estate people were heard more than the residents & that the proportion of people represented were heavily business/development to the number of people who are just residents and do not have a monetary personal gain motivation but just truly care about the city & the PEOPLE in the city. The business people completely monopolized the map activity tonight & wanted nothing but High Density housing with 4-5 stories in as many areas as possible. I realize there needs to be compromise but the polling showed people do not want a great deal of High Density.

THERE WAS SOME MODERATE IDEAS IN PRESENTATIONS AND PROCESS.
THERE WAS NO REAL CONNECTION TO WHAT WE HAVE VS WHERE TO GO - ONLY HIGH ALTITUDE THEORY
I DON'T FEEL DEMOGRAPHICS WERE REPRESENTATIVE OF SILENT MAJORITY.
OUTCOMES AND SUMMARY OF INPUT IS SO VAGUE IT IS AND CAN BE TWISTED TO MEAN ANYTHING.

Maybe a take-home or short answer feedback opportunity. Many vocal voices saying the same thing makes it seem as though we may be less representative of reality. Follow up next time with discussing the results of anonymous feedback. ~~Elicit~~ Elicit community feedback prior to a meeting such as this to best understand the changing community needs/dynamics

I would suggest a few more younger families. Folks between 25 - 35 with a kid or two. 4 of the 7 presenters for maps tonight were north of 55 years old. I think we may want some more input from people that will remain active in our community for a while longer. Other than that I loved those meetings.
