

RESIDENTIAL – WHEN IS A BUILDING PERMIT REQUIRED?

A common misconception of permits is that a permit is not required for work that is not structural in nature. That is untrue. Generally, a permit is required for any work on any structure. A good rule of thumb is to get a permit except for new paint and new floor coverings. A more specific list is detailed below. The exemptions below apply only to single-family residential structures or structures accessory to a residence.

CONTACT US - Keep in mind that although a permit may not be required, other City Code requirements may apply such as property line setbacks, fence heights, number of accessory structures, parking requirements, etc. If you are in doubt as to whether or not a permit is required, or have any questions, please contact our office at 435-563-6507 and we will gladly answer any questions you may have.
